Food Service Training and Certification Program

Program Description

The Food Service training and certification program with Workplace Learning Solutions prepares students to earn gainful employment in the restaurant industry. Students will learn various technical skills needed to succeed in the restaurant setting, including front-of-the-house and back-of-the-house operations. At the conclusion of the program, students will have the opportunity to earn a certification.

Nature of Work

As an employee in the restaurant industry, you will work to ensure that the operational components are functioning properly to maximize the daily profitability of the business. Restaurant staff must be able to make quick decisions, analyze and solve problems, provide timely reports, and provide quality service to colleagues, employees, and guests.

Career Outlook

Food service staff help in the front-of-house and back-of-house operations in fast food and sit-down service establishments. The majority of food service staff are hourly, however, about 30 percent are salaried. There are additional opportunities in this area to be self-employed as owners of independent restaurants or other small food service establishments.

Overall employment of food and beverage serving and related workers is projected to grow 17 percent from 2020 to 2030, much faster than the average for all occupations. About 1,032,100 openings for food and beverage serving and related workers are projected each year, on average, over the decade. Food service jobs are expected to remain steady through 2026.

Potential Earnings:

While WLS does not guarantee salary for participants, the following information is helpful in considering whether this career field is right for you. The median annual wages for different types of positions in hospitality are as follows:

The average Restaurant Line Worker salary in Georgia is $26,849, but the range typically falls between $21,564 and $29,729.

The estimated total pay for a Restaurant Host is $45,530 per year, with an average salary of $31,944 per year.

The average prep cook salary is $31,253 per year in Georgia.

Restaurant managers earned a median salary of $61,490 per year in 2019. Many managers receive bonuses ranging from $2,000 to $10,000 per year. Managers who work for large restaurants can expect paid vacations, health insurance, retirement benefits, and the opportunity for yearly bonuses based on good performance. Most managers receive free meals when they are at work.

Salary ranges can vary widely depending on the city and many other important factors, including education, certifications, additional skills, and the number of years you have spent in your profession.
